International security operations

"The security situation in Congo has suddenly worsened due to questionable election results. There is an uneasy atmosphere in the large cities, and the Western society feels an upcoming threat. The Dutch embassy needs specialist advice how to deal with this situation (security embassy, ambassador protection, home security residence, evacuation planning). The ambassador decides to hire an experienced security manager for the next few months".

"A Dutch NGO starts a mission in Pakistan and sends 15 employees to the area. There is an increased security risk in the area due to a number of violent incidents that happened in the past month against Western NGOs. The NGO needs an experienced manager who can locally advise on safety and security measures . "

"A renowned international construction company is, on behalf of the local government, implementing a project in Tanzania. The project suffers huge delays due to heavy materials being stolen on the different construction sites. The local security company is unable to solve this problem. "
